

Lord Of the Rings Symphony April 2007

I saw the Lord of the Rings Symphony in the KölnArena in Cologne tonight and just want to let you know how deeply moved I was by the whole orchestra performance, but especially by you. You sang so beautifully I started crying and then kept crying throughout the rest of the show. I never realised what beautiful sounds a human voice can create and herewith I want to thank you for the amazing evening I had.

I'm about to finish school in a few weeks and tonight I realised that tonight was the first time I ever heard an orchestra play live. Now I'm seriously thinking about going to the opera or see another orchestra play and a soloist sing in the near future. Thank you for this.
